Grading Policy

Unit Exams – There will be a unit exam at the completion of each unit which will focus on material only from that specific unit. There will be about two or three exams per quarter with a review day before each exam. Each exam will be worth 100 points.

Quizzes – There will be a quiz each week (typically on Friday's) that will focus on the material that we have been covering in class that week. Each quiz will be worth at most 50 points.

Cumulative Reviews – A new "CR" will be given on Friday after the weekly quiz and will be due the following Thursday. CR's will consist of approximately 5 questions and require thought. You may ask ANYONE for help on these, including myself, and I will check your answers if you ask in advance. CR's will total about 80 points for the quarter.

Homework – Homework will be given a few times a week. You will receive 0 points for not completing, 1 point if it is half-attempted, and 2 points for complete homework. There will be approximately 25 homework assignments over the course of the quarter for roughly 100 points. Homework is due the day after it is assigned; homework will only be accepted late for an excused absence.

* Your quarter grade will be calculated by adding up all of your points and dividing by the total amount of points.
